This is a test.

- not bad
- not bad at all

My initial thoughts were this was another live chat type service, but it seems more like a disquss type replacement for static sites. nice.

Does Remarkbox support:

- CAPTCHA services to prevent bot spamming?
- Approval process before publishing?
- Custom required fields (say email AND country or preferred language) which can be toggled to never shown?
- Does it provide a backend summary to the moderator (number of unique users, user remark count, email list, geographic location, preferred languages, etc)
- Is it a single JS file? How many external calls does it make? How big is the JS?
- For the paid services, do you host all remarks? Is their an SLA or expected duration these remarks will be hosted for? If I move my website around, or rebuild it on each deployment as part of a CI/CD process, will the remarks still be available?

| Thanks!
